Arts and Health Project Orange Health Service Bloomfield Campus

Health settings can be alienating. The Orange Health Service has developed an Art and Health Strategy - using participatory art projects; art incorporated into health facility design and exhibiting art and performance, to bridge the gap between the health service and the community and increase access to health care. It aims to engage the community; facilitate pride and ownership and increase understanding of issues such as stigma.

Lachlan Building - Terrazzo 2010

Community workshops were held to design and create 53 terrazzo pavers which together made the Lachlan River themed artwork representing an aerial view of the river from Cowra to Lake Cargelligo. These pavers have been installed in the courtyards of the Lachlan Building, the new Acute Mental Health Facility

Adolescent Mental Health Unit Courtyard - Terrazzo 2011

Following workshops with young people and research into colours and shapes that produce a calming affect, artists worked together with volunteers from the community and mental health staff to create a terrazzo artwork for the Adolescent Mental Health Courtyard in the new general hospital

Weaving Wellbeing Project 2010 - 2011

Through community workshops the design theme of the Flora and Fauna of the Central West of NSW was chosen as inspiration. Artists worked together with community members to create 15 metal structures. Workshops in Orange and Con-dobolin offered the community an opportunity to learn traditional Aboriginal weaving techniques to create the woven elements for the artworks. They are installed in the main courtyard of the new hospital

Aboriginal Gathering Space – Terrazzo 2011

Workshops with the Aboriginal community resulted in the design of eleven animal totems from the region. The pavers were created through community workshops and they are placed in the Aboriginal Gathering Space located in the grounds of the new general hospital

Cubism 2010 - 2011

Following a call for expressions of interest from regional artists, new and original laser cut designs have been fixed to the existing stainless steel cubes in the courtyards and gardens of the new general hospital. The designs were developed by artists: Aileen Francis, Maryn Hellmich, Heidi Lefebvre and Sally Watson. The Orange Regional Arts Foundation contributed funding to this project

A SPECIAL THANK YOU TO:

the dedicated artists, the countless volunteers from the community, the staff & consumers of the Orange Health Service, the O'Brien Centre and all the organisations who have contributed to these projects
